

ACS Nano Author Checklist

Before submitting your revised manuscript, please ensure the following guidelines are met:

Copyrights and Permissions:

- ☐ Provide letter or email from author(s) of personal communications granting you permission to cite unpublished work. We do not list references as submitted for publication, in preparation, etc.; if not in the press, these should be listed within the text (not in the reference list) as personal communications or unpublished data, if from an author of the present manuscript.
- ☐ Provide permission obtained to reproduce previously published (copyrighted) material.
- ☐ No institutional logos are allowed in graphic files without explicit permission.

Table of contents graphic:

- ☐ All Table of Contents (TOC) images must be original, created by one of the authors, and cannot be reproduced, adapted, or modified from other sources. Images modified through manipulation including rearranging, cropping, masking, and distorting, should not be used. The use of licensed stock images in TOC graphics is not allowed.
- ☐ TOC graphic is required for the following manuscript types: Articles and Reviews, maximum width 9.0 cm and height 4.0 cm; Perspective and Nano Focus, maximum width 4.5 cm and height 4.0 cm. This graphic should be in TIF or EPS format and at least 300 dpi resolution at final printed size. The graphic should capture the readers' attention and provide a visual impression of the essence of the manuscript. Please keep the text portion of the image to a minimum. Consult the Guidelines for Table of Contents/Abstract Graphics for specifications.
- ☐ Under no circumstance can a logo be included in the TOC graphic.

Article Title:

- ☐ No more than 20 words.
- ☐ Title may not contain words like "First" or "Novel" nor any part or series number.
- ☐ Authors' names should be given in as complete a form as possible: first names, initials, and surnames.
- ☐ E-mail address for corresponding author(s) should be inserted on title page below name/address.

Abstract:

- ☐ Abstracts are required, with specified word limits, for the following manuscript types: Articles, 250 words; Reviews, 250 words; Perspectives, 120 words; Nano Focus, 120 words.
- ☐ There are no reference citations in the abstract.
- ☐ Abbreviations are defined upon first usage.
- ☐ Keywords (5-7 for Articles; 8-10 for Reviews) should be listed after the Abstract. Reviews should also include a Vocabulary section in which 5-7 terms are defined.

Main Text:

- ☐ Section headings are encouraged, but the "Introduction" section heading is not used. Sections are not numbered.
- ☐ Methods section is required for Articles as the last text section, before Acknowledgments.
- ☐ Throughout text, all Latin words, phrases and abbreviations must be italicized. Examples: i.e., et al., e.g., in situ, via, etc. or etcetera, in vivo.
- ☐ Put all citations throughout the text in superscript, and without brackets. When a citation is next to any form of punctuation (i.e., commas, periods), put citation after the punctuation.
- ☐ Submit your marked copy of the manuscript as Supplemental Material for Review. Do not include tracked changes on the final clean copy of your manuscript.
- ☐ Make sure that all authors listed on the manuscript are listed in your Paragon Plus submission in the same order and with the exact same spellings.

References:

- Individually numbered with only one citation per reference.
- References must adhere to correct journal style: include article titles in title case, journal abbreviations according to CASSI (<https://cassi.cas.org>), proper punctuation and arrangement, and use full page ranges. References with more than 20 authors must list the first 20 authors, followed by “et al.”
- Title case (for citation titles): Capitalize all words, including subordinate conjunctions such as “As”, “Because”, “Although”. Put prepositions such as “for”, “or”, “and”, as well as all articles (“a”, “the”) in lower case. For hyphenated phrases, capitalize both words.
- Do not include any issue numbers in references.

1. Besteman, K.; Lee, J.-O.; Wiertz, F. G. M.; Heering, H. A.; Dekker, C. Enzyme-Coated Carbon Nanotubes As Single-Molecule Biosensors. Nano Lett. 2003, 3, 727—730 .

Book example:
